Germany will have no try-out in the big League this season.

"Cussing Coolidge" is seemingly one of Pat's favorite pastime.

Folks might as well lie about us as to tell so many disagreeable truths.

Now that the Florida tourist season is waning Coral Gables is busy denying rumors. More publicity.

Love makes the world go round, besides turning a lot to people's heads.

Perhaps the meek shall inherit the earth, but they will never get it any other way.

Another paradox is that only those who remain slaves to art become its masters.

Anyway we are getting a more intellectual class of people into our penitentiaries.

A man who is clever enough to be boss at home is also wise enough not to brag about it.

General Butler seems to be almost as popular in San Diego as he was in Philadelphia.

Wets appear to think that straw votes may eventually break the prohibition camel's back.

Life insurance companies should recognize banditry as one of the least hazardous occupations.

Increasing divorces cause one to suspect that Cupid has been using some poisoned arrows.

If one wants to see a determined bunch of go-getters he has only to visit a popular cafeteria.

When you can't understand the traffic cop's signal, it is safest to assume that it means "stop."

When airplanes become as numerous as flies there may be a legitimate market for blue sky.

About the surest method of getting a lot of free advertising is to make a bid for Muscle Shoals.

Pass Christian has a good press agent. The porpoise story is the latest. How about the sea serpent?

The only exclusively masculine barber shop we have seen lately was in connection with a "pants pressed while you wait" establishment.

The fiftieth anniversary of the telephone brings the startling realization that the "wrong number" joke is only a half-century old.

Dr. Scham, of the University of Minnesota, has made himself solid with the younger generation by declaring that home work is bad for school children.

A New York legislator refutes the story of Nero's fiddling while Rome burned by reminding us that the violin was not invented until about fifteen centuries after that big fire.

Officer McNeal of White Oaks, Ky., dreamed that there was liquor in the Baptist church of that town and up in investigating found 20 gallons in the belfry. Perhaps the psycho-analysts can explain this.

Ministers of the Grape Belt Association, in the State of New York, have protested against straw votes on prohibition, which indicates that the grape market is satisfactory under present conditions.

Be careful about giving charity donations to strangers. Impostors wearing Salvation Army uniforms have solicited funds in Oklahoma and Major Bennett, of State headquarters, has issued a warning against them.

Fritz Karpinsky, of Berlin, is reported to have been murdered by another German, who objected to his wearing Oxford bags. While the murder can hardly be condoned, it must be admitted that the provocation was great.

Governor Richardson of California had a letter from 9-year-old J. B. Earp, who applied for a job as office boy during vacation and added, "I expect to run for governor when I get grown." The youngster appears to have a good idea of how to make a start for his goal, and who knows but that he may reach it?

Ernest Heitman reported to have been one of the Roosevelt's sailors who died in the rescue of the Antioch's crew, was found driving a Long Island taxi. An investigation disclosed that the real hero was Fritz Steger, who had found Heitman's lost seaman's papers and shipped under Heitman's name.

YACHT CLUB FOR GULFPORT.

Realizing that it will result in a tremendous asset to the community and of inestimable value to the daily life of their city by the sea, socially and commercially, Gulfport citizens, headed by several of the civic organizations, have launched an intense drive for $50,000.00. Already much of this is realized and pledged and there is not a question of Gulfport's success in raising the desired amount for the purpose.

The Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club, the Women's Club, and, in fact, every citizen, so to speak, has constituted himself or herself a committee of one to "get busy" in the premises. There will be no rest, no cessation of labor until the end is accomplished. Gulfport well knows the value of a yacht club and its significance to the locality. Every tidewater town and city of any import in Florida has its yacht club, with all accompanying features that make so much for it.

Gulfport has gone forward with remarkable and substantial growth along every avenue. There seems little or nothing lacking for a continued success. Biloxi has its yacht club, one of the outstanding assets of that city. The yacht club is open the year 'round. It is the Mecca for much of Biloxi's life. Imagine Biloxi without its yacht club! Both are synonymous.

Gulfport is not lagging—far from it. The live and red-blooded citizens of that place are going to have their $50,000.00 or its equivalent in due time and the yacht club an accomplished reality in record time. We wish them success in their effort, compliment them not only for their vision, but on their progressive and active spirit, and we feel safe in saying the Gulfport Yacht Club is going to be one of the liveliest elements on the Mississippi Coast.

SET-BACK FOR PEACE.

Failure of the Geneva meeting to consummate the provisions of the Locarno peace pact by bringing Germany into the League of Nations, as it was hoped to do, has created another serious situation in Europe.

With representatives of fifty-five nations gathered for the purpose of furthering the purposes of the Locarno agreement, friction of such a serious nature developed that the admission of Germany was postponed.

While details of the disagreement have not been fully explained, it is known that Germany's entry into the League has been delayed through disputes concerning the admission of other nations, particularly Brazil, Rumania and Poland. After a week of squabbling over the issues involved, it was finally decided that Germany should not be admitted to the League until next September. Whether she will ever become a member appears to be in doubt.

Blame for the failure of the meeting to carry out its purposes is being charged to one nation and another. It is evident that the cause of European concord has suffered a shock which may injure the prestige of the League as a working instrument for permanent peace.

BIG POULTRY POOL.

After a year spent in educational and organization work, there is now being launched in Saskatchewan province, Canada, a great poultry pool, with 9,500 members, owning nearly nine million hens and other fowls, for co-operative marketing.

Mrs. J. Holmes is president of the organization, which will ship a large portion of its products to eastern Canadian and British markets. Members of the pool have signed binding contracts, which it is believed will insure faithful delivery of products and genuine co-operation through business-like methods.

Like all well managed organizations of a similar nature, the new pool will stress the necessity for high quality of production, proper grading and intelligent distribution.

Co-operative marketing is making much headway, both in Canada and in the United States, and while some set-backs and discouraging experiences have been met here and there, it seems that the principles underlying the movement are entirely sound and capable of being developed into a truly beneficial system, for producer and consumer alike.

WAVELAND SEA WALL.

Before the Rotary Club Wednesday, Representative R. L. Genin stated the new bill under the provisions of which the Waveland sea wall will be built, is practically the same under which the Harrison county wall is being built, only that a change was necessary because that part of the beach road is a recognized highway, as the Spanish Trail, whereas Waveland is not. But the new bill now applies part of the gasoline tax to all roadways built along tidewater lines in Mississippi, be it sound, bay or gulf. The bonds for the Waveland sea wall are to be underwritten by Hancock county, and in time redeemed by gasoline tax money paid the State, under the head of roadways and roadway protection along tidewater shore lines.

A device for testing the strength of pneumatic tires has been constructed by Dr. Falk, of the University of Chicago.

LITTLE MAN O' MINE.

(By HARRY STUART SAUCIER.)

I SAW him yesternight, my little man—
His head erect, his eyes like stars;
His beautiful form within the van
Of play-like soldiers off to wars.
I saw his feet keep time with drum,
As marched he proudly by;
His shoulders squared for strife to come,
Real manhood in his eye.

My parent-heart within me swelled,
With righteous pride for him, my own;
My eyes were glad that they beheld,
Flesh of my flesh, bone of my bone.
I felt a pity in my heart
For men unblest, what had they done,
Whose blood could not proudly dart
At sight of so manly a son?

I saw him salute that glorious flag,
The banner I've taught him to love;
And his arm did not a moment lag,
Neath the Stars and Stripes above.
Aye, 'twas yesternight, I saw him there,
Like a blessing, to me divine,
And what I said was more like a prayer:
I'm proud of you, little man o' mine.

VOICES CROSS SEA.

It was eminently fitting that the fiftieth anniversary of the telephone this month should have been marked by the establishment of wireless telephonic communication between New York and London.

While radio messages through powerful broadcasting stations have been transmitted far greater distances, the holding of regular conversations across the sea by wireless telephony has just been achieved for the first time. Reports state that it was just like talking on an ordinary telephone and that the voices were heard as distinctly as on many local calls.

It was on March 10, 1876, that Alexander Graham Bell uttered the first words ever transmitted over telephone wires, when he said: "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you." The words were addressed to Thomas A. Watson, his assistant, sitting at a crude receiver in another room, and were heard distinctly by him. He hurried to tell Bell that their patient research had been rewarded, and that a new art had been at that instant given to the world.

The wonderful invention was exhibited at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia that year and while it attracted wide attention, no one dreamed of the part it was to play in human affairs. Now the telephone is one of the most important and indispensable adjuncts of modern civilization. We cannot imagine what we should do without it.

MOVIES IN SCHOOL.

Considerable progress is reported in connection with the introduction of moving pictures into the school room, especially in New York City, where the department of visual instruction is gradually installing a definite system.

Pictures are now being employed in such subjects as geography, civics, science, biology, history, nature study and hygiene. A short talk on the lesson is first given, after which the appropriate picture is shown, this being followed by further study of the textbook.

This method is said to be meeting with marked success, through stimulating the interest of pupils and giving them a more practical understanding of the subjects taught.

The educational value of good moving pictures can hardly be over estimated and this applies to adults as well as to school children. In many subjects a moving picture can convey more information in a minute than could be gained in hours of poring over a dry textbook.

No doubt the next few years will see the wide employment of visual instruction in schools everywhere.

ANOTHER FREAK BILL.

Congressman Parks, of Arkansas, has introduced a bill which would prohibit ambassadors or cabinet officers from writing for publication and profit anything containing information which they might have obtained through their occupancy of such public offices.

Just what inspired Mr. Parks to offer such a bill is not clear. Certainly it would infringe upon the liberty of an American citizen in a most unwarranted manner, besides it would doubtless in many cases deprive the public of information of great value.

Statesmen of all countries and in all ages have written of the events in which they played a part and some of these writings are among the most illuminating of the world's historical documents. Others, it is true, are devoted mainly to a glorification of the writers, but even these give the thoughtful reader a better insight into the significance of the times with which they deal.

The author of this freak bill is probably a poor writer, who never expects to be an ambassador or a cabinet officer.

Prof. Hugh Miller, of George Washington University, declares that half the lawyers and a large percentage of preachers are parasites on society and perform no useful service. He suggests that we need a new profession, which he would call that of "human engineering," devoted to hygiene, handling of men, business organization, constructive political research, peace problems and the like. Anyway, his suggestion is worth thinking about.

A new type of electric fan carries its own battery for driving the motor.

PRESS PICKINGS.

BY REICUAS.

Mr. Bill Hohenzollern.

Mr. Bill Hohenzollern, alias "Hock-denkaiser," is getting into the lime-light again and is trying to crash the Swiss gate to be nearer the seat of the War or its kind) and they say they must have rock-bound guarantees that this particular ex kink won't start some foolishness.

You see, this Mr. Bill used to be the Bagenbaggage of Germany, and he dreamed that nothing could head him off from sitting on top of the world and running the whole shooting match. It took four years to bust up Bill's dream, and when he woke up he beat it for the quiet Dutch settlement, where he has since chopped wood for a new family, while the many Doctors who Berlinize the universe were trying to untangle the yarn that Bill got all knotted up. The little Swiss state is in a peck of trouble just now on account of the Hungarians having his appetite whetted up for more ruling, and they naturally balk at the Bill person butting in, especially when they have had his number for so long.

The dispatches do not state whether or not the powers will permit Mr. H. to change his residence, and the chances are that he'll be told to RE-main put in his present location for the good of the world.

"Swiss" is noted for its holes, and it is rumored that Mr. Bill in question thinks he can see a better way out there, but the Swiss are very touchy on that subject and prefer to make their own excavations, so we think Bill had better "Gheese it" before he gets in bad again.

Maniacs.

Horrible crimes are being committed every day and most cases we find that the culprit was suffering with some form of insanity. If he has lots of money to back him, the particular form of craziness assumes outlandish names, only known to the highly paid experts. If he is just an ordinary stroller among the masses, the form is just plain craziness. The courts say you can't hang an insane person, because he is not aware of the gravity of his offenses, and they put him in an asylum till he's well. So he can emerge and do something else, just as the case of Frank Krohn, in New Orleans, has shown: His family successfully pleaded for his release from a madhouse; he was let loose upon the world and a poor, unguarded little girl's life was wrecked.

Laws must be made for the protection of society, laws that WILL protect for all time. A person incarcerated in an asylum should remain there until their cure is absolute. Vicious animals are taken care of and vicious persons should be dealt with in a like manner.

Italian Potpourri.

The pot has started to boil over in the European "Boot" and somebody's toes are going to get scalded.

Mussolini, who has been keeping the fires burning very hotly since he ran his black shirt bluff on the burghers of Rome, has at last stumbled on a gent by the name of Federzoni, who must have come from a place called Missouri, I believe, because he wanted to be shown, like our own mule-raisers out West.

This Federzoni is a yellow jacket inside of the Premier's black shirt and the outside world may look for some big warm doings as soon as the yellow wasp gets stung.

The latest popular song from the Spagnetti land runs something like this:

Mussolini, yo da weeni,
On Italia strong yo leeni!
She gotta all she linna stan;
Quit yo bruggin', gitta yo waggin';
Go back sella da banan.

BOON TO FARM WOMEN.

At the opening of a free electrical exposition sponsored by the Birmingham News recently, some facts were presented in an address by M. H. Aylesworth, managing director of the National Electric Light Association, which are of particular interest to farm women.

Mr. Aylesworth declared that electricity is revolutionizing the women of America of much of their former drudgery and that this benefit is rapidly being extended to the rural districts, whereby farm women will be enabled to retain their youth and health, instead of being broken down at an early age.

Stating that electrical washing machines, vacuum cleaners and other home appliances can be operated for three to five cents an hour, he said: "The time has arrived when our wives and mothers must no longer be permitted to sell their time at exorbitant wages of three cents an hour, having to neglect the highest work entrusted to human beings, the work of motherhood."

Among the notable advances which will be witnessed by the next generation, none will be of greater benefit to humanity than the emancipation of farm women from lives of drudgery, through the application of electricity to the work of the home.

Who will deny that there ought to be industries in every community in the South? Industries bring wage-earners to the town, and make bigger markets for the farmers and merchants, more clients for doctors and lawyers, more depositors and bigger deposits for the banks.

Your community, like most areas in the South, has only one great natural resource which can be the foundation for any permanent and considerable industry. That is the land. Is the land in your community being developed to support industries in your town, or simply to support industries in other towns which make the richer you aspire to gain?

You cannot overlook such a fine line of building your community industrially.

HOT STUFF.

A rather clever story is going the rounds concerning the municipal band of Palm Beach, Fla. Just how true it is we cannot vouch, but we pass it along for what it is worth:

Last year while the band was playing "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" the Breakers Hotel took fire and burned to the ground.

A few days ago, at Orlando, the band struck up "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and a $2,000 warehouse a block away went up in smoke.

Next day, at Lake Eola, while the band poured forth the strains of "Red Hot Mamma," fire broke out in a private hospital just across the lake.

Fire Chief Alfred Sadler has warned the leader to refrain from playing any more musical hot stuff.

WHO AM I?

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world. I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the nations.

I am more deadly than bullets, and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns.

I steal, in the United States alone, over $300,000 each year. I spare no one, and I find my victims among the rich and poor alike, the young and the old, the strong and the weak, widows and orphans know me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor, from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage earners a year.

I lurk in unseen places and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless.

I am everywhere; in the house, on the streets, in the factory, at the railroad crossings, and on the sea.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, crush or maim. I give nothing but take all.

I am your worst enemy—I am CARELESSNESS.

PEOPLE VOTE TO INCREASE SALARY OF CITY OFFICIALS.

At the election held in Gulfport Saturday to determine whether or not the salaries of the Gulfport City Commissioners should be raised from $150 per month to $250 per month, a very small vote was cast. One hundred and forty-nine votes were cast, the result, however, being decisively in favor of the increase. The vote was 131 for the increase and 18 against. In all probability a much larger vote would have been cast had it not been for a continuous down-pour of rain throughout the day.

The vote is large enough to make it decisive and on January 1, 1927, the salaries of the Gulfport City Commissioners will be $250 each. In the meantime an election will be held and new commissioners elected.

BUSINESS BRIEFS.

Panama Canal tolls for January showed an increase of more than one-third over the same month of last year.

Buying of electrical appliances is now at the highest point ever recorded.

It is estimated that three-fifths of the timber originally standing in the United States has been destroyed by fire.

Australia will spend $25,000 a year to advertise its products in England.

Three large American film companies will quit operating in Hungary on account of too much government interference.

BUILDING THE MISS. GULF COAST.

(Preston Williams, Jr., in Times-Picayune.)

Jackson, Miss., March 22.—The Mississippi Gulf Coast will probably share more in the benefits of the constructive legislation passed at the 1926 session than any other section of the State because of the fact that national attention is centered on this section. There were a large number of laws passed at the session that apply only to the Coast section, some in the nature of general bills and some in the nature of local and private measures.

In practically every instance where a member of the Coast delegation offered a bill affecting the Coast, that bill became a law; for the lawmakers knew that as the Coast develops the wave will extend over the whole State.

Members of the Coast delegation, Evans of Harrison, Smith of Jackson, and O'Neal of Harrison and Jackson worked zealously in the House for their particular section, never asking more than was really needed. The Coast delegation agreed that if this law had been repealed thousands of permanent residents for the life would have been gained during the next few months.

The effects of Florida's constitutional amendment prohibiting income and inheritance taxes and the resulting growth of the population of that State caused the Coast delegation to sponsor the laws seeking a repeal of the inheritance tax law, at least.

The action of the Legislature early in the session in reducing the State tax law for the possibility of the law being repealed. All members of the Coast delegation agreed that if this law had been repealed thousands of permanent residents for the life would have been gained during the next few months.

Foreign Securities Exempt.—Enactment of laws exempting stock of foreign corporations, owned by residents of this State, from taxation was one of the biggest aids given in the development of the Coast. There are many residents of the Coast who have their chief source of income in other States, particularly in Louisiana and Alabama.

The oyster industry will be given an added impetus by the enactment of laws providing for a mile protection against dredging in front of Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis, and the creation of a new reef from Bay St. Louis to Waveland, outside the dredging districts. Over 100,000 barrels of oyster shells will be planted annually on the new reefs and to renew old reefs.

Private taxes on oyster dealers have been repealed, and laws passed enabling the Oyster Commission to spend larger sums of money than heretofore allowed in carrying on the work of the body.

Provision for certain salt water fish is also provided in laws limiting the season on these fish.

Reforestation Laws to Benefit Coast.—Reforestation laws enacted at the session will be of great benefit to the Coast counties in that the denuded lands back from the Coast can and will be reforested. This will also assure a source of supply for the paper mill now established at Moss Point and other industries of the kind that will probably be established in this section within the next few years.

Probably one of the most important acts affecting the preservation of the beauty of the Coast line is the extension of the municipal zoning act to all counties bordering on the tide water, enabling board of supervisors to regulate the type of buildings to be erected. This will insure the property owners who erect handsome homes, that an unsightly structure will not be erected on adjoining strips of ground.

Local legislation provides for a great portion of the laws directly affecting the Coast section and in outlining these measures the laws are considered by counties.

Hancock county will build a sea wall to protect its entire beach, and particularly that portion of the beach between Bay St. Louis and Waveland. The bill was fostered by Mr. Genn. Paving programs under way in Bay St. Louis will be carried to completion under the law authorizing the city of Bay St. Louis to issue $150,000 in bonds. This exemption from taxation for a period of years of toll bridges over one and one-half mile in length will result in a bridge being built from the beach road in Bay St. Louis across the Bay of St. Louis to the Pine Hills Hotel and adjacent territory.

Harrison County Secured Many Laws.—Harrison county drew a bag full of laws, one of the most notable being the bill allowing Gulfport and Biloxi to purchase a portion of Ship Island and convert the same into an amusement park. It is rumored that the Illinois Central is planning to extend to Ship Island some time in the future and that a portion of the island will be acquired by the railroad for terminals. In the event that this is done the city of Gulfport will likely become one of the largest ports along the entire Gulf Coast. Laws authorizing the extension of the sea wall in this county and to allow the awarding of contracts for extensions without the formality of advertising for bids means that the road protection work of the county will be rapidly passed.

Biloxi, Gulfport and Pass Christian are allowed to pension school teachers, police and firemen under a special act.

An appropriation of $5,000 for the restoration of Beauvoir House at the Jefferson Davis Soldiers' Home will mean that this historic shrine will be preserved in its original splendor. The appropriation for the support of the institution was increased $12,000.

Improvement of the Naval Reserve Park is also provided for.

Coast Counties to Gain From Gas Tax Increase.

All of the Coast counties will benefit under the terms of the increased gasoline tax, the counties having a special tax not to exceed the State tax for the purpose of building the sea wall and highway.

Harrison county will also assist in building a bridge across Back Bay to Jackson county.

Jackson county will build three bridges under the provisions of the measure fostered by Mr. Smith. One of these bridges is over Biloxi Bay, connecting Ocean Springs and Biloxi, another will be over the Pascagoula river at Pascagoula, and the third will be over the Escatawpa river at Moss Point.

Locates Guard Camp on Coast.—The new camp of the National Guard of Mississippi was located in Jackson county after legislation permitting its establishment there was enacted. It is expected that when the camp is placed in operation that the National Guard units of Alabama and Louisiana will also select the camp for the annual encampment. Roads to and through the camp are to be constructed by Jackson county and the federal government is to spend $90,000 in making improvements.

A new paper bag factory is to be established in Jackson county, a law exempting such enterprises from taxation for five years having been one of the factors that aided in location of the plant.

In addition to fostering and assisting in legislation of interest to the Coast, Mr. Smith was chairman of the roads, ferries and bridges committee and it is said that when a road leading north and south was proposed anywhere in the State, it received prompt consideration by the committee provided the southern terminus of the road was on the Gulf Coast. A road was added in Jackson county so as to connect up with lateral roads in the central part of the State.

Laws permitting municipalities and counties to levy a special tax for advertising was one of the big achievements of the session for the Coast. It will enable the national advertising campaign started several months ago to be continued and the results that have been obtained from the advertising until this time will be greatly enlarged.

EXPRESSIONS FROM COAST DEVELOPERS.

Well Known Authorities Speak of Florida and California—Conditions There Then and Now—Comparative Conditions of Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Comparisons are odious in the sense in which the expression was originally made, but it is by comparison and observation we frequently gain the benefit to be had by comparison. Developers of our own Mississippi sea coast compare it with Florida, and, incidentally, with conditions in California, and from their observations we gain much.

The New Orleans Item-Tribune recently quoted Harry Fitzpatrick, well known to our local readers not many years ago as a colleague at S. C. Bay St. Louis; Allen Johnson, of the Gulf and Bay Land Company, of the Mississippi sea coast, and C. L. Schmidt, representing a Chicago land syndicate, owners of Gulf Bay Land Company.

Where the Mocking Bird Serenades.

We quote Mr. Fitzpatrick first. He said:

"I have naturally heard recent reports about the abatement in Florida of the speed mania which has been the marvel of the business world during the past three years. If this is really so, I believe it will be a good thing for the whole country in general and Florida in particular. When the 'Get-Rich Quick Wallingfords' and the erratic gamblers who infested the land of Florida de Leon sold their tents like the Arabs and steal away the atmosphere will be purer and investment certainly more stable and confident. Everyone who has general progress and sound development at heart could not but look with alarm and disapproval upon the hectic scenes of frantic speculation which meant only that thousands of unwary and probably lean-purse buyers would eventually hold the bag of disappointment and loss. We who have invested and who are developing upon the Gulf Coast of Mississippi and around Mobile Bay congratulate ourselves that nothing of the kind has transpired in our midst."

"Because it has taken Florida several years to reach this point, and for the reason that during all that time untold millions have flowed into her coffers, and because of the additional fact that roads, building, agriculture and many other lines of development have received a marvelous stimulus. It would be impossible for conditions to return to the status quo ante, and expected for some time to come. Of course, I do not mean that a slowing up all along the line will not take place, and a gradual revision, but there will be no catastrophes and the downward trend of prices to a level where values will be liquid and sound, but predictions of a general panic are destined to be empty talk."

"The people of the North are thoroughly sold upon the new era, and are both able and willing to pay handsome prices to own a fair portion of what the Mississippi Gulf Coast and Florida will let them, and all the calamity howling in the world will not change this viewpoint, nor make them stay at home shoveling snow and watching old Boreas swoop down from the Saskatchewan valley and chase the mercury to the bottom of the thermometer, when they could be enjoying the golf course, while the mocking bird serenades from some moss festooned magnolia tree."

IS JOB PRINTING A GOVERNMENTAL-FUNCTION?

The small newspaper publisher with his job printing office has been harder hit by government ownership and competition in the printing industry than have the operators of any other line of business. The little printer is in direct competition with the great tax-free government printing office, with its tremendous buying power, backed by the credit of the United States treasury itself.

The National Editorial Association is at the present time leading in the campaign to get the government out of the commercial printing business. If it can print and sell envelopes, why not print and sell the letterhead paper to go with the envelopes; or sell letter paper unprinted if the customer so desires? If the quantity buying power of the government is to be used for the benefit of the purchaser of one commodity, why not extend it to all commodities?

The principle involved in this fight is whether or not it is a legitimate function of government, local, State or national, to go into competition with private citizens who must furnish the taxes and the brains to maintain government itself. The National Editorial Association is doing a public service in bringing this question to a head.

A method of knitting "run-proof" stockings devised by A. Serravallo, of Lyons, France, is said to give promise of revolutionizing that industry.

Mrs. Mary Morgan, of Brooklyn, was awarded $13,500 damages against the city on account of slipping on an icy sidewalk and receiving an injury which shortened her leg two inches.

about Taking Chances

American railroads are striving to reduce the number of accidents, both among their employees and the public generally.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad employs approximately 52,000 people; about 45,000 of these are employed in hazardous occupations, and it is a matter of pride on the part of this Railroad to state that the number of injuries and fatalities per year is constantly being reduced.

In the year 1923 there were 4,303 injuries among L. & N. employees, with 60 fatalities. During the year 1925 there was a reduction to 2,852 injuries, or one-third, and to 44 fatalities, or one-fourth.

In 1925 the L. & N. handled over 10,400,000 passengers average, a distance of about 70 miles without a single fatality, and with only 9 persons injured, in train accidents. In fact, as convincing evidence of the L. & N.'s remarkable safety record, there has not been a passenger killed in a train accident in the past six years, notwithstanding it has handled over 30,000,000 passengers an average distance of about 60 miles.

Safety devices of every sort are employed in this Company's shops and on every mile of track.

The American railroads are preaching and practicing "Safety First." Let everybody help.

ECHOES FROM ST. STANISLAUS.

Easter Holidays.—The Easter recess will begin Wednesday morning, March 31st. Students going to New Orleans will leave Bay St. Louis at 7:20 a. m. Those going east will leave at 5:58 a. m.

Pupils will return on the 3:30 p. m. train from New Orleans on Tuesday, April 6th. Classes will resume immediately. Pupils who are late will be held to strict account. Parents should take this opportunity to provide their sons with the necessary clothing to last till vacation. The authorities look with great disfavor of the custom of some parents calling their sons home on the "Sickest" excuse. No pupil will be allowed to leave College during the remainder of the term unless he has a very good excuse, considered as such by College authorities.

Cup Is Given to Bay High.—Last Tuesday night a large crowd assembled in the College gymnasium to witness the presentation of the Hancock County Teachers' Association loving cup to Bay High for the second consecutive year. The cup was given for scoring the highest number of points in the track and field meet, held last week. The cup was presented by Emil Gex, who congratulated the students of Bay High on their wonderful achievements.

Several medals were awarded to students taking first place in the track and field meet, and also to those being first in their class. Refreshments were served after the exercises, and was enjoyed by all present.

Baseball.—Tomorrow will open the Stanislaus baseball season. The Bay fans have been anxiously awaiting the call "Play Ball!" and now the time is here. The College team will have its first chance against the Whitney Central Bank team, of New Orleans. Little is known of the Whitney Central team, but every year the Bankers' League plays a high grade of baseball, and the bank teams have shown splendid games on their every appearance here.

Forster Commagere has worked the team and shifted men in and there to bring the maximum batting strength and the best fielding. The prospects are that the 1926 team will have the edge even on the great teams of recent years. The infield is still there from last year's machine. The outfield looks more formidable in every way, and with two first string catchers there is nothing to worry about but the pitching staff. And why bother in that direction? Year after year Coach Commagere has developed pitching material from the ranks of the club, and the chances are still there so we may see opposing batters slumping back wearily to the bench after looking over our pitchers' offerings. And the schedule!

Loyola, Spring Hill and the other big ones will have learned to respect the prowess of the Rock-A-Chows. The complete schedule will be announced in next Sunday's Echo.

We Wonder Why——Red Ware and Henderson are such close friends these days. Toups is so heartbroken and blue. Brignac has become so charitable; is it because she threw him down? Duke is worrying about his little friend and his big.

Guirdy said he found something the train lost. Abe was kayoed. Sam Haik went out for track. Saucier is throwing the javelin (watch your step, Zeek!). Red Ware walked from the gym feeling so blue after the cups were presented.

We have such lovely weather on holidays.

been scared off Florida as a result of our competition. And when they come into our own country, they find that the prices are only a percentage of the Florida prices. Florida can't meet our competition. The investors, developers and speculators are coming already; they will come in greater volume and continue to push values up, as was the case in Florida; perhaps ultimately to the peak beyond which they can not pass.

Will Turn to Other Fields.—C. L. Schmidt, of C. L. Schmidt & Co., representing the Chicago syndicate owning the Gulf and Bay Company, costing about $2,000,000, says: "In making our investments, we felt that the Florida situation was reaching an acute stage, and decided to undertake the development in the confident belief that Florida continued firm for an indefinite time; the competition would not hurt our prospects, because of the big advantage in price which we have, and that if Florida slowed down this section of the country would benefit enormously, because the tremendous buying volume now pouring into Florida would be turned into our country."

"It is as obvious as A, B, C that the real estate developers of Florida, when they find they have worked out the territory will turn to other fields. That means our country."

In this connection, it may be mentioned that a dozen automobiles of Florida real estate speculators and developers reached the Coast on one day last week. Real estate offices on the Coast and in New Orleans are daily receiving applications from former salesmen, who joined the Florida rush, to be reinstated. These are the forerunners of the movement.

Inviting Financial Crash.—Joseph Blum and J. L. Onorato, who are behind the Pine Hills development on the Bay of St. Louis, behind Pass Christian, take a similar view. "You can see how values were inflated in Florida by the following instance: Flagger street ran along the Canal street of Miami, the principal business thoroughfare. And Miami's permanent population is just about one-third the size of New Orleans. Yet Flagger street real estate has sold for $42,000 a foot, while that of our own Canal street has only reached $19,000. Residential sites on the water front and in the interior, and lands suitable for agricultural purposes, have seen their values swollen in similar degree. All this means the end, and even if it does not mean a financial crash, it means that thousands of investors will seek other opportunities, and our country offers the greatest inducements, taking into consideration price only, in displacing the other magnificent advantages."

Hotly Contested Basketball League Games Come to Close—Summary and Personal Standings.

The athletic department at St. Stanislaus is not confined to the older element entirely, as so many may think. The little fellows have leagues among themselves and their games are as hotly contested as any of the grown-ups, with the keenest rivalry imaginable.

During the basketball season several leagues were formed among the smaller boys, facetiously named, as the following may attest:

The Sea Coast Echo

C. C. Moreau, Editor and Publisher

City Echoes.

Stovewood for sale. Phone 253-M.

Senator McGee, of Franklin county, is spending today in Bay St. Louis, visiting Senator Marshall and Representative Genin.

Miss Aline Ransen, visiting Mrs. (Dr.) A. P. Smith since the holidays, returned to Sumrall, Miss., this week, where she will visit her relative, Mrs. Eaton, for an indefinite period.

Miss L. Cuneo returned home this week from a visit of several weeks to friends and relatives in New Orleans, spending part of the late winter enjoying the various social activities of that city.

Bay St. Louis was represented last evening at the Mississippi Club banquet at the Great Southern Hotel by Mayor G. Y. Blaize, C. G. Moore, George R. Rea, John DeArmas, S. A. Johnston, Chas. G. Moreau.

Mr. John K. Edwards, senior member of the firm of Edwards Bros. Ford dealers, Bay St. Louis, Gulfport and New Orleans, left for Detroit, Michigan, Sunday night in the interest of the firm, and will be gone for about ten days.

Mr. John Rester, one of the substantial farmers and representative men of Hancock county, was a business visitor to Bay St. Louis yesterday. He reports the incessant rains of late have delayed the crops considerably, and deplores the setback.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stubb, former residents of Bay St. Louis, spent Sunday visiting at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Kergosien, in Carroll avenue. Mr. Stubb is successfully engaged in the realty business at New Orleans.

The work by the city of demolishing Firemen's Hall, corner Union and Second streets, is progressing, and soon the big frame building that has stood for over a quarter of a century will be but a memory. It is planned to build a new and modernly equipped fire engine house. The present building was of oversize, the second story useless and its condition dangerous.

A letter received by local relatives from Mrs. Chas. H. Sneadecker, who left here recently with the body of Rev. Sneadecker, and son, for New Herstead, Long Island, states the trip was made in due time, the services at the Reverend Doctor's church largely attended and the ceremony beautiful and impressive, and that burial took place at beautiful Sleepy Hollow, where sleep the ancestors. The demise is deeply regretted and the widow and son have the heartfelt sympathy of many friends.

Local patrons of the telephone will learn with interest of a forthcoming issue of the Bay St. Louis directory for the Cumberland Company, to be issued about April 15th, dated April 1st, and which will be gotten out in the printing department of the Sea Coast Echo. The future issue is planned to issue the directory twice instead of only once a year. A more frequent issue of the directory will help to keep the listings more up to date and give more value to the advertisements.

Mr. W. J. Urquhart, of Niles, Mich., reached Bay St. Louis during the early part of the week and is registered at the Hotel Weston. He comes to recuperate from the rigors of the Michigan weather and will remain until spring has displaced old bores in the North. He is anticipating Mrs. Urquhart joining him later.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Avery, of Detroit, Mich., spending the winter in Bay St. Louis, have temporarily moved to New Orleans, where they are domiciled at 3915 St. Charles avenue, in the interest of treatment for Mrs. Avery, who is recovering from an indisposition of several weeks' duration. The local friends of the Averages anticipate their early return to Bay St. Louis.

A significant fact denoting better and more desirable values is found in the announcement that the Union Indemnity Company, of New Orleans, is soliciting and placing business along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, underwriting some of the big building projects. Biloxi, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis and other places are specifically mentioned in the announcement. It is evident the eyes of big business are turned this way and that present and future prospects are of such stability as to win recognition.

Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois has returned from McComb, Miss., where she was present at the formal opening of the new store at that place of W. L. Bourgeois & Sons, which attracted many people from miles around. It is interesting to note the new venture met with instant success and late reports are to the effect that "Business is good." Associated with Mr. Bourgeois and actively in charge are his sons, Dan and Hugh, and it is pleasant to learn of their success. Both are not only active, but wide-awake and progressive.

Mr. John Caldwell, native and former resident of Bay St. Louis, was a visitor to Bay St. Louis Sunday, while attending a convention of gas interests at New Orleans last week. Mr. Caldwell for years has been the head of the gas department of the Asheville (N. C.) Electric Power and Gas Company. Although his visit was short, he met a number of friends and acquaintances of former times, and noted with interest the decided improvement in Bay St. Louis. Mr. Caldwell's visit was a source of much pleasure to his local friends.

More than the required 150 patrons' signatures necessary in order to establish the proposed Bay St. Louis-Waveland rural route delivery, which was fully outlined in the news of last week's Sea Coast Echo, has already been secured, according to a statement from local Postmaster A. R. Hart, and the service will be forthcoming. He says the number of signatures is already far in excess of that required. Mr. Hart also states it will be no trouble to establish city delivery of the building of permanent sidewalks and other minor requisites remaining to be done. This should prove an incentive to get busy.

Bay St. Louis Knights of Columbus announce the first big dance of the season, at K. C. Hall, in Main street, benefit of building fund, on Saturday, April 10th, and for the occasion Kid Rickard's Charleston Jazz Band will discourse the music. The management says, "The same high-class and well-regulated dance as in the past is assured. We reserve the right to reject any and all who may prove objectionable to the management." Popular prices, 75 and 25 cents. The K. C. Home organization is still carrying a heavy financial burden on its spacious and handsome building, and the ball is given to help reduce the debt. Every assistance will count appreciably.

The placing of traffic safeguards at the intersection of prominently located streets at the city and the marking of automobile parking spaces along Front street is noted. The red light port, at Main and Front streets is slated to come down, and in its stead a new danger signal covering the surface of the street is to be placed. Mayor Blaize informs The Echo the city is also planning to designate Main a one-way street with traffic on Court street running in opposite direction. Traffic is getting more congested all the time and it is planned to prepare now for the increase this summer.

The first dance after the Lenten season will take place on Easter Monday night, by the Ladies' Woodmen Circle, benefit that organization. The dance, which will be widely anticipated, will take place at Woodmen Hall, and popular prices of admission will obtain, 50 cents for gentlemen, 30 cents for ladies and 15 cents for children. The customary excellent music will be on hand. The ladies are making a special effort to raise funds to enable them to carry on their splendid work, and the Easter Monday benefit will, no doubt, be liberally patronized.

It is authoritatively given out that the base of operations for the building of the Bay St. Louis bridge, for which will be opened April 14th, will be in this city. Material shipped will be destined to Bay St. Louis and the building company's offices and headquarters as well as all labor will be domiciled here. While this will be done to better facilitate the work and to expedite its quicker completion, it will resolve to this one significant fact, that the business of the city will prove of direct benefit to this side.

Mr. F. M. Shipp, resident of St. Louis, Mo., reached Bay St. Louis during the week and is the house guest of his brother, Dr. C. M. Shipp, and Mrs. Shipp, at their inviting home on the beach front. Mr. Shipp came not only to visit his brother but also to see the Mississippi Gulf Coast and with a view of seeking investments. He says the people away from here are talking the Mississippi Gulf Coast on every side, and keeping pace with the popularity and publicity given Florida.

The Perfection Bakery, Main street and Dunbar avenue, announces to the public that beginning Monday next the business will go on a cash basis. In other words, there will be no more credit, no more charging. Pay cash and get more value for your money will be the slogan. Mr. Perre announces the customer will receive more in return for cash payment; that in consideration of money in hand he will be able to give the customer better value.

Messrs. Arthur A. Scaife, Chas. A. Breath and H. U. Canty journeyed to Biloxiville Thursday night, where they officially attended the charter reception of the Rotary Club, and report the "baby club" of the district as pretty husky and lively. The guests speak of the highest terms in the cordial and genuine manner in which they were received, and are delighted with the trip and visit.

The Maccabee benefit dance of last week was one of unusual success and proved an evening of much pleasure, attesting to the popularity of the organization in Bay St. Louis. A feature of the ball was a prize for the couple best dancing the Charleston, won by Miss Ruth Deschamps and Mr. Irvin Bontemps, and the waltz prize by Mr. and Mrs. M. Perre.

Mr. R. B. Deacon's mother, Mrs. S. A. Deacon, who formerly lived in Bay St. Louis, was buried last Monday morning at New Orleans from the T. & P. train, having died at Houma, La., where she had been living with her daughter, Mrs. James Bridgman, for the past eight years.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. John Osoinach, announcing the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Ethel May, to Mr. Harlow George Bullard, of New Orleans, in which city the happy event will take place on Thursday evening, April 8th, at St. Charles Avenue Presbyterian Church, 6 o'clock.

Mrs. George H. Edwards and children who have been visiting at the Edwards home, in Washington street, have returned to their home in New Orleans.

AGONIZING PAIN QUICKLY BANISHED

Two applications of home remedy gave complete relief

Don't suffer—don't wait for pain to just wear off. Give it relief at once with a very simple home treatment. "I could not sleep or do my work," writes a Washington, D. C., woman, "but now I can walk and do my work and sleep at night. I used Sloan's Liniment only twice and it relieved me of my pain. It is just wonderful. I will never be without it."

This is only one letter but it is typical of thousands that the makers of Sloan's have received, testifying to the amazing relief that Sloan's gives to every kind of muscular pain. No need to rub, it's the medicine itself that does the work. Just put it on. Instantly it sends the fresh, healing blood tingling through the sick tissues and the pain simply has to go. So clean and easy to use too. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

POINTED PINE PARAGRAPHS

O. H. L. Wernicke

Pine Institute of America, Inc.

Since forests are necessary to our prosperity, what are we going to do about it?

It is simple as first-grade arithmetic. We must save the forests we can, and grow more trees where too many have been cut away.

To grow trees is not so difficult as raising most other crops. So far as human labor is concerned, a few days out of the year tell the whole story for a hundred-acre pine lot. It takes a little "know-how", and some organization. The "know-how" and organization go together.

WORK AND PLAY

AT S. J. A.

S. J. A. Vs. Dominican.
Friday morning, bright and early, the Gold Jays embarked on their journey to New Orleans to oppose the Champions of Dominican College. Both teams were evenly matched, for the score ran at a tie for the four quarters. There was a fighting spirit in the final whistle blew was anyone positive of the victorious team. The last few seconds proved extremely lucky for the Dominican's "Six," for it was then that they caged the field goal which won the game.

Although disappointed at losing by such a close score, we are proud of the Gold Jays and of their excellent work. We congratulate the Dominican girls on their splendid team and thank them for their courtesy to us.

Close of Basketball Season.

The Jays' prosperous season drew to a close with the hard fought game with the Catholic Champions of New Orleans. Through the tireless efforts of the dearest coach in the world, Miss Irene Sellier, the year 1925-26 has proved the most successful of all basketball seasons for S. J. A. We are indeed grateful to you, coach, the student body unite with the faculty in expressing our sincerest thanks for training the team of which we are so proud.

We also take this opportunity to thank Miss Mary Perkins, "the fairest and squarest referee" on the Coast," for the interest she has taken in our team.

It is with regrets we leave basketball for other sports.

Let us end the season with hearty cheers for our coach, our team and our referee.

Just the "Baby Team."

Yes, 'twas even better than the New Orleans game Friday, St. Joseph's Day, the Convent's two best "baby" teams met on the famous Gold J's court. Louise Dollfus astounded the vast crowd on the bleachers by displaying a few of her professional tricks, which easily won the game. Ira Kate's team was left in the distance, for she was on the look-out for something resembling a "zebra," therefore the fact that she was playing basketball was entirely disregarded and so her team lost.

The game was fairly refereed by "Milt," the "Fat" who willingly gave her services in hope of losing a few pounds. She very wisely refereed in favor of the winning side.

"Whisperings."
Margaret wants to be different. Everyone is jealous of Caroline. Evelyn and Margaret are always teasing each other.

Alberta B. wants a boyish bob. Alice's heart beats is irregular. Mary S. was downcast Sunday morning.

Bessie doesn't like to be complimented on her dancing.

Bessie has decided to take drawing and painting.
